BLACKBURN AND WHITEHEAD: EFFECT OF STRESS AND FOOD INTAKE

[illegible]

Abstract The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week, low-intensity, supervised walking program on the physical and psychological health of sedentary, middle-aged women. The study was a randomized, controlled trial. The intervention group (n = 20) participated in a 12-week walking program, while the control group (n = 20) remained sedentary. The walking program was designed to be low-intensity, with a target heart rate of 110-120 beats per minute. The program was supervised by a certified walking instructor. The study was conducted in a community setting. The primary outcome was the change in physical fitness, measured by the 6-minute walk test. Secondary outcomes included changes in body mass index (BMI), blood pressure, and psychological health, measured by the Beck Depression Inventory (BDI). The results showed that the walking program had a significant positive effect on physical fitness, with the intervention group showing a significant increase in the 6-minute walk test score compared to the control group. There were no significant differences in BMI, blood pressure, or BDI scores between the two groups. The study suggests that a 12-week, low-intensity, supervised walking program can improve physical fitness in sedentary, middle-aged women.

Weyerhaeuser My Guide

Willem Meijer

Weyerhaeuser My Guide:

Indonesian Forests and Land Use Planning Willem Meijer,1975 Anatomy of a Conflict Terre Satterfield,2007-10-01
Anatomy of a Conflict explores the cultural aspects of the fierce dispute between activist loggers and environmentalists over the fate of Oregon's temperate rain forest. Centred on the practice of old growth logging and the survival of the northern spotted owl, the conflict has led to the burning down of ranger stations, the spiking of trees, logging truck blockades and countless demonstrations and arrests. Satterfield shows how the debate about the forest is at its core a debate about the cultural make up of the Pacific Northwest. To talk about forests is to talk about culture, whether the discussion is about scientific explanations of conifer forests, activists' grassroots status and their emotional attachment to land, or the implications of past people's land use for future forest management. An engaging ethnographic study, this book emphasizes the historical roots and contemporary emergence of identity movements as a means for challenging cultural patterns. It makes a significant contribution to culture and identity driven theories of human action in the context of social movements and environmental studies.

Travels with Ernie Robert Livingston,2017-11-20
Travels with Ernie is a story about a newly retired newspaper reporter Robert Samuels who is involved in a violent car crash. Regaining consciousness, he finds himself in a strange room with peculiar properties. It is able to read his thoughts as does the unfamiliar man before him, for whom time and place can be manipulated in compliance with Samuel's most hidden desires. The stranger, who refers to himself as a case manager, provides a guide, a long dead journalist Ernie Pyle, for the adventure awaiting Samuels. The story is a kaleidoscope of many themes all tied to Samuel's desire to find redemption and, if possible, salvation before he dies for the choices of inaction that he made in his life. Together, the three travel to unusual places, each locale a heartbeat in Samuel's ethical struggle to advocate for social justice where he, by his own failure to act, compromised the moral life he wanted to live.

Okinawa in the Pacific, Gila River Indian Reservation in the Southwest, Seligman, Arizona, Lone Pine, California, Bly, Oregon, and Albuquerque, New Mexico. Along the way, Samuels encounters forgotten figures in American history, each related to his redemptive struggle to live an ethical life: Ralph Lazo, Fred Korematsu, Iva Toguri, Charles W. David Jr., Captain Henry T. Waskow, Rabbi Alexander Goode, Angel Delgadillo, Ben Epstein, and Professor Peter Irons. All have a story to tell, which possibly will exonerate Samuels from his self-imposed sense of historical guilt. Samuel's religious faith, such as it is, will be challenged by events past and present. In the end, he is trying to make sense out of the chaos of life and the absurdness of human affairs. As such, it is a story that embraces us all.
