Parliamentary Debates, House of the People India. Parliament. Lok Sabha,2013-12-16 Undressed Toronto Dale Barbour,2021-10-01 Undressed Toronto looks at the life of the swimming hole and considers how Toronto turned boys skinny dipping into comforting anti modernist folk figures By digging into the vibrant social life of these spaces Barbour challenges narratives that pollution and industrialization in the nineteenth century destroyed the relationship between Torontonians and their rivers and waterfront. Instead we find that these areas were co-opted and transformed into recreation spaces often with the acceptance of indulgent city officials. While we take the beach for granted today it was a novel form of public space in the nineteenth century and Torontonians had to decide how it would work in their city. To create a public beach bathing needed to be transformed from the predominantly nude male privilege that it had been in the mid-nineteenth century into an activity that women and men could participate in together. That transformation required negotiating and establishing rules for how people would dress and behave when they bathed and setting aside or creating distinct environments for bathing. Undressed Toronto challenges assumptions about class, the urban environment and the presentation of the naked body. It explores anxieties about modernity and masculinity and the weight of nostalgia in public perceptions and municipal regulation of public bathing in five Toronto environments that showcase distinct moments in the transition from vernacular bathing to the public beach: the city's central waterfront, Toronto Island, the Don River, the Humber River and Sunnyside Beach on Toronto's western shoreline.

Living the City in Africa Brigit Obrist, Veit Arlt, Elisio Macamo, 2013 Research on cities worldwide still takes its cue from cities in Europe and the US which are seen as the standard model. However cities in the global South are undergoing a much more rapid transformation including multiple interlinked transitions with Africa featuring the highest urbanization rates world-wide. Scholars therefore call for a new approach to urban studies which examines cities from a more global comparative perspective. This book discusses the new approach which pays added attention to the role that societal creativity plays in processes of urbanization instead of concentrating exclusively on expert-driven planning and intervention. Especially in fast-growing cities with weaker institutional capacity for interventions the interplay between intervention and invention between expert and societal agency becomes more tangible and all the more significant.
