This book examines China's bilateral relations with its established suppliers of crude petroleum and on occasion petroleum gas products including liquefied natural gas (LNG) based on a five-dimensional framework: political, diplomatic, relations, economic, trade, relations, military, security, relations, cultural, relations, and petroleum energy relations. A five dimensional approach is comprehensive in nature and offers a complete understanding of China's complex relationships rather than looking solely on more typical perspectives like bilateral trade security relationships or energy ties More often than not social science literature focuses on one or more aspects of China's bilateral relations which does not provide a complete picture of the complex nature of its interstate ties This book endeavors to bridge this gap and look more substantially at China's bilateral relationships with energy petroleum relations being the key aspect linking each one of them The specific bilateral relationships examined are China's relations with Angola Brazil Republic of the Congo Iran Iraq Kazakhstan Kuwait Oman Russia Saudi Arabia South Sudan Sudan United Arab Emirates and Venezuela These countries matter because their crude petroleum and petroleum gas product exports account for over 50 percent of China's annual oil consumption

Battlefield Tourism David William Lloyd, 2014-07-31 In the aftermath of the Great War a wave of tourists and pilgrims visited the battlefields cemeteries and memorials of the war The cultural history of this battlefield tourism is chronicled in this absorbing and original book which shows how the phenomenon served to construct memory in Britain as well as in Australia and Canada The author demonstrates that high and low culture tradition and modernism the sacred and the profane were often inter related rather than polar opposites The various responses to the actual and imagined landscapes of battlefields are discussed as well as bereavement and how this was shaped by gender religion and the military experience Individual memory and experience combined with nationalism and imperial identity as powerful forces informing the pilgrim experience But this book not only analyzes travel to battlefields which unsurprisingly paralleled the growth of the modern tourist industry it also looks closely at the transformation of national war memorials into pilgrimage sites and shows how responses both to battlefields and memorials which continue to serve as potent symbols evolved in the years after the Great War
