Tourism, Public Transport and Sustainable Mobility C. Michael Hall, Diem-Trinh Le-Klähn, Yael Ram, 2017-02-03 This book offers a comprehensive global examination of the relationship between public transport and tourism as well as exploring other sustainable transport modes. It offers a unique view by analysing tourism through the public transport lens and vice versa. The volume provides an account of how the public transport experience can be improved for tourists so that its value can be maximised and a greater number of people can be encouraged to shift modes. It features a wide range of case studies and examples showing how the tourism industry as well as regional economies, communities and the environment benefit when public transport is widely used by tourists. Tourism Spaces Alan A. Lew, 2021-07-19 Geographic space is a fundamental and essential construct of the physical reality within which we live, move and construct our world. Through space we create others; anything that is any distance from us and we experience time by moving from one place point to another. Because it is so fundamental to our experience we often take geographic space for granted. Tourism Spaces: Environments, Locations and Movements shows some of the ways that geographers and other social scientists bring spatial considerations to the forefront of our research and understanding of tourism. This is seen through the spatial arrangements and distributions of tourism phenomena such as attractions, destinations and in the spatial behaviour of tourists themselves. Today these spatial arrangements and patterns are increasingly being captured, analysed and understood through various forms of formal and informal digital data. The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Tourism Geographies.

Tourism Planning and Development Jarkko Saarinen, Christian M. Rogerson, C. Michael Hall, 2019-09-19 Academically complex and challenging to apply, development and planning are increasingly relevant to the growing tourism industry. This collection contains critical studies on tourism development and planning and calls for proactive, holistic and responsible thinking. It addresses conceptual and contemporary issues in development and planning research including political trust, innovation networks, sustainability, moral encounters, enclavisation and evolutionary economics. It argues that recognition of the contextual and historical dimensions around tourism development and planning is essential to help both researchers and practitioners better understand destination and place-based decision making. In addition, it will lead to improvements in stakeholder relations and explains how tourism best works with localities and localities with tourism. This book was originally published as a special issue of Tourism Geographies.
