Dear students I want to share a dream with you I dreamed that a young person of 14 whom I was going to be teaching would become president of the United States during the first half of the twenty first century As a teacher I was struck by this immense responsibility What should I teach my student about the world as preperation for this awesome task How could my world history class help this person to mature into an intelligent and humane president and leader of the free world

Mississippi's Black Cotton John Obee,MacArthur Cotton,2025-05 The literature of the civil rights movement is replete with stories about the major actors in the movement including for example Martin Luther King but there is little focus on the MacArthur Cottons of the era the young Black men and women who at great risk to their physical and mental health chose to become involved in the movement when so many others chose not to Without these young Black people there would have been no movement and what was accomplished with the Civil Rights Acts of the 1960s would never have happened This was particularly true in Mississippi the most repressive of all fifty states and one that had sponsored state terrorism to ensure that white supremacy reigned supreme Despite having no real reason to believe that change could happen MacArthur Cotton and those like him believed that they had to act In MacArthur s case his actions were in the tradition of his activist family and he relates his involvement with many of the important figures in the Mississippi movement such as Medgar Evers and Fannie Lou Hamer Importantly he also honors others like him who are largely unknown to history such as the Greenes and McGees in Greenwood who were waging their own war against their oppressive state While having been imprisoned many times and having lived in a constant state of terror Cotton persisted as a foot soldier in a war and as with all veterans of wars was left with emotional and psychological scars Despite the toll that it took on him as a person however he remains a committed activist to this day

Teaching History with Big Ideas S. G. Grant, Jill M. Gradwell, 2010-07-16 In the case studies that make up the bulk of this book middle and high school history teachers describe the decisions and plans and the problems and possibilities they encountered as they ratcheted up their instruction through the use of big ideas Framing a teaching unit around a question such as Why don t we know anything about Africa offers both teacher and students opportunities to explore historical actors ideas and events in ways both rich and engaging Such an approach exemplifies the construct of ambitious teaching whereby teachers demonstrate their ability to marry their deep knowledge of subject matter students and the school context in ways that fundamentally challenge the claim that history is boring
