A Long Dream of Home Siddhartha Gigoo, Varad Sharma, 2016-10-18 Twenty five years ago in the winter of 1990 about four hundred thousand Pandits of Kashmir were forced to leave Kashmir their homeland to save their lives when militancy erupted there Even today they continue to live as internally displaced migrants in their own country While most Kashmiri Pandits have now carved a niche for themselves in different parts of India several thousands are still languishing in migrant camps in and around Jammu The stories of their struggles and plight have remained untold for years The authors of the memoirs in this anthology belong to four generations Those who were born and brought up in Kashmir and fled while they were in their forties and fifties those who lingered on in their homes in Kashmir despite the threat to their lives those who got displaced in their teens and those who were born in migrant camps in exile These narratives explore several aspects of the history cultural identity and existence of the Kashmiri Pandits These are untold narratives about the persecution of Pandits in Kashmir during the advent of militancy in 1989 the killings and kidnappings loss of homeland uprootedness camp life struggle survival alienation and an ardent yearning to return to their land These are stories about the re-discovery of their past their ancestry culture and roots and moorings Art Directors Annual, 2001 Graphis, 1996

Decolonising Multilingualism Alison Phipps, 2019-06-25 What if my own multilingualism is simply that of one who is fluent in way too many colonial languages If we are going to do this if we are going to decolonise multilingualism let's do it as an attempt at a way of doing it If we are going to do this let's cite with an eye to decolonising If we are going to do this then let's improvise and devise This is how we might learn the arts of decolonising If we are going to do this then we need different companions If we are going to do this we will need artists and poetic activists If we are going to do this let's do it in a way which is as local as it is global which affirms the granulations of the way peoples name their worlds Finally if we are going to do this let s do it multilingually      Learning, Practice and Assessment Catherine Sawdon, Prof Mark Doel, Diane Morrison, 2002-01-10 This is a comprehensive guide to integrating assessment learning and practice reflecting current concerns in health and social care The authors an academic a training officer and a practitioner present complementary perspectives to bring theory and practice closer together      So Little Time John P. Marquand, 2015-07-14 A father frets over his son s future while reexamining his own past in John P Marquand s enduring portrait of America on the brink of World War II A script doctor who divides his time between Manhattan Hollywood and a country home in New England Jeffrey Wilson has entered middle age with all the trappings of success Yet in the months leading up to the attack on Pearl Harbor he feels increasingly anxious and isolated He fears that his eldest son a college sophomore will be called to fight before he has had a chance to live on his own terms Two decades ago Jeffrey served in World War I and his life since then seems like a series of accidents Instead of the journalism career he aspired to he toils to fix other people s plays By marrying into a prominent family he gained wealth and stature but sacrificed his autonomy His friends and acquaintances most of whom were chosen by his wife are foolish and vain Powerless to rewind the clock or hold back the tides of global conflict Jeffrey offers his son the one piece of advice that is impossible for a young man to hear Time is running out Witty moving and meticulously observed So Little Time is the story of a crucial period in American history and one man s attempts to make sense of it all
